Police call to tighten up nightclub licence

ONE of the region's biggest nightclubs could lose its licence following complaints by customers and the police.

Door staff at De Niro's in Newmarket have been accused of using excessive force to throw out revellers and have been threatening and abusive to police officers.

In one incident, a bouncer, identified only as Sean, is alleged to have threatened a police sergeant.

A detective constable was also

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

sworn at when he telephoned the security firm which employs the bouncers.

Another officer was also sworn at by a bouncer at the club.

There is no record of any of the bouncers being prosecuted.

Statements from the officers involved are part of a file of evidence which is being presented to Forest Heath District Council's licensing act sub-committee next Monday and Tuesday.

The three-man sub-committee has the power to revoke the club's licence, suspend it for up to three months, remove the designated supervisor from the licence or change the conditions of the licence.

Sgt Liam Garrard, who is presenting the police's case to the sub-committee, is calling for the conditions on the licence to be tightened to require management and door staff to co-operate with the police.

In a report to the sub-committee, he said: "The process for a review (of the licence) is viewed by the police as a last resort..."

"Because it has not been possible to informally resolve the difficulties detailed in this report, we consider that the licence condition should be tightened to better promote the crime and disorder objective."

He said that police investigations of complaints of assaults in the club, which include one incident of grievous bodily harm, have been hampered because club management have said that their CCTV system has not been working, or not working properly.

He said there was concern that the club had not used licensed door staff recognised by the Security Industry Association.

Another concern raised by the police is over the management of the club.

Terry Lake, the owner and "designated premises supervisor," is rarely at the club and lives in the USA "for a significant period of the year", according to Sgt Garrard's report.

Customers back a winner

EX-JOCKEY Ricky Granville has been voted a regional winner by customers in his current job as a home delivery driver for a leading supermarket.

Ricky, 53, had to give up riding horses after an accident. For the past two years he has been delivering shopping from Tesco's Newmarket store.

Now he has been voted a regional winner in Tesco.com's Driver of the Year awards.

Customers who nominated him for the award praised his good humour, whatever the weather, and for regularly going beyond the call of duty and always carrying shopping into the kitchen for less able customers. He was one of 29 regional winners chosen from Tesco.com's 5,000 home delivery drivers.

Ricky, who lives in Newmarket, said: "It's very flattering to think that my customers have taken the time out to nominate me."

"To me, providing excellent customer service and doing my bit to help the local community is all in a day's work."

His prize for being a regional winner was an iPod Nano music player.

Mandy Minichiello, of Tesco.com, said: "Ricky has received a huge number of touching nominations and he really is a great ambassador for the rest of the Tesco.com drivers on the road."

Revellers brave the rain to enjoy village's annual carnival

RAIN failed to dampen the enthusiasm of village groups taking part in Burwell's annual carnival. The event, supported by the Newmarket Weekly News, was hit by heavy rain at the start of the float parade through the village.

But the rain quickly cleared as the procession continued from Margaret Field to the village college field where all the carnival events were staged. The theme for the floats was board games and the winners were the 1st Burwell Cubs with Cluedo. Burwell Early Learners were second with Guess Who and third place went to Burwell Swallows Girls team with Subbuteo.

The trophies were presented by Peter Alexander from local garage business Manchetts.

The afternoon's events included Viva Youth Theatre from Soham, a display by Burwell Karate Association, Burwell Village College Choir, and an auction with local auctioneer Will Axon, a children's entertainer. Winners of the tug of war were a team from the village's Five Bells pub. Local band Hoarse with

No Name closed the event with their fourth successful appearance at the event.

Money raised from the event benefits local organisations which take part. Last year £5,000 was raised.

But the amount raised from this year's carnival will not be known for several weeks.

John Rollin, one of the organisers, said: "All in all it was a brilliant day, if we had to have rain it did so at the right time, meaning people were able to enjoy all on offer, mainly in the dry."

Jockey's wife in court over alleged assault

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

TOP jockey Kieren Fallon's wife Julie appeared in court accused of assaulting another woman.

Mrs Fallon, 40, mother of the couple's three children, denied an assault by beating on Emma Louise Witt on January 27 this year.

She appeared before magistrates at Mildenhall wearing a dark brown trouser suit and spoke only to confirm her name and address and to enter a plea of not guilty.

Mrs Fallon, of Lambfair Green, Cowlinge, is alleged to have carried out the assault after an altercation in The Star pub at Lidgate, near Newmarket. She was issued with a court summons on May 25 following a police investigation into the incident. She was represented by solicitor Claire Lockwood.

The magistrates adjourned the case until July 19 for the preparation of a full file for a trial. Mrs Fallon was told she did not have to attend the next hearing at which it is expected that a date for the trial will be set. Mrs Fallon, an ex-jockey, was allowed to remain "on summons" after the magistrates decided not to put her on bail.

■ Kieren Fallon, six times champion jockey, is one of a number of people facing a trial in September, accused of conspiring to defraud customers of online bookmaker Betfair.

He returned to race riding this month after completing a six-month ban imposed for failing a drugs test at a French racecourse. He rides for Irish trainer Aidan O'Brien.

Woman tells of rape ordeal after break-in POLICE have mounted a major investigation after a woman told them she was raped when her home was burgled.

The woman, in her 60s, told officers the attack happened when she woke up to find two people in her caravan home.

The thieves carried out a search and left after stealing an undisclosed amount of money.

"We are treating this seriously and have a team carrying out enquiries in the area and searching for evidence," said a Suffolk police spokeswoman.

"We also have specially-trained officers working with the victim to ensure she has any support she may need."

The attacker was described as being in his 40s, and of big build. He was about 6ft tall with a round face, large ears and dark hair.

The incident happened just after 5.30am last Wednesday.

Anyone who saw anything suspicious in the Lakenheath area between 10pm last Tuesday and 6am last Wednesday, or who may have other information about the incident, can call Detective Inspector Chris Pryke at Mildenhall CID on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers, anonymously, on 0800 555111.

Police call over nightclub licence

The club's manager, Nathan Brown, was given a police caution in April of last year for a public order offence which related to an incident involving the club.

A crime analysis has shown a rise in offences, many of them involving violence, in and around the club. During 2006 there was a 35 per cent rise in crimes linked to the club.

Neither Mr Lake, nor his solicitor, were available for comment.

But an email from Nathan Brown, sent to the police and included in the file for the sub-committee, said: "Terry feels strongly about this situation as to the point of registering a complaint as we feel that we are one of the most successful businesses in the town and also one of the most helpful. But we always seem to come under fire for criticism."

Nathan Brown said he did not want to comment.

Ban for motorists using mobile phones at wheel

A RACEHORSE trainer and a supermarket manager were among the first people prosecuted since the penalties for driving while using a mobile phone were increased.

Newmarket trainer James Toller was among 22 people summonsed to appear before magistrates on Monday.

But Toller, 53, of Ditton Green, Woodditton, did not appear at court at Mildenhall and the case was adjourned until July 23.

He is accused of using a hand-held phone while driving on April 3.

Tesco manager Eric Gharakhanian was banned from driving when the points he picked up on his licence for a mobile

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

phone offence pushed him over the "totting up" limit of 12 points.

A police officer spotted him on the A11 at Red Lodge using a hand-held phone while driving.

Gharakhanian, 48, of Brook Close, Histon, said he was on his way home from the Brandon store where he was then manager when he received a call from the store.

"I had only just left the store so I took the call. I understand I should not have done so, but my earpiece was not working," he said.

He already had nine points on his licence for speeding offences.

He appealed to keep his licence on the grounds that a ban would cause him exceptional hardship. He is now managing a store in Stamford and sometimes has to open up the store at 6am.

But he was given a six-month driving ban, fined £60 and ordered to pay £45 costs.

Van driver Scott Marshall, 29, was also given a driving ban after he made an unsuccessful plea of exceptional hardship to keep his licence.

A police officer saw Marshall using a phone in Willie Snaith Road, Newmarket. He told the officer he was asking for directions.

Marshall, from Leicester, already had 11 points on his licence for two speeding offences and a traffic sign offence.

He was banned from driving for six months, fined £60, ordered to pay £45 costs and a £15 court victim surcharge.

Road safety charity Brake welcomed the prosecutions.

A spokeswoman said: "Drivers using a mobile phone are four times more likely to have a crash.

"We were pleased that the penalties were increased, but we feel they should be even higher.

"We are glad to see that people are being prosecuted but there are problems with enforcement of the law because the police do not have the resources in some areas.

"People still aren't getting the message about the dangers of using a mobile phone while driving."

Liam sets new £55,000 fundraising target

BRAVE Liam Fairhurst wants to raise another £50,000 to help young cancer sufferers and their families.

Being diagnosed with cancer for a second time has not stopped 12-year-old Liam raising £100,000 for CLIC Sargent – and he wants to carry on helping others.

The Soham Village College pupil, who is responding well to chemotherapy treatment after being diagnosed with cancer for a second time, was this week celebrating his remarkable achievement with some of the classmates who gave him such strong support along the way.

Liam's father, Mark, thinks his efforts have left him exhausted but eager to repeat the fundraising feat that saw his first £50,000 provide a holiday caravan for the families of children with cancer.

Mr Fairhurst said: "He needs to have a little rest. He is finding it hard work mentally and physically.

"He wants to try to raise enough money for another caravan. Whether or not there would be another one, I'm not sure – but he wants to raise enough so it would be feasible.

"That would probably need around £55,000."

■ ACHIEVEMENT . . . Liam Fairhurst with fellow pupils, who have helped him raise £100,000 so far.

Picture: Keith Heppell 416397.

Liam, who is currently spending three hours each day at school, will look to return to Soham Village College full-time in September – all the while continuing with chemotherapy for lung cancer.

The youngster, who was named Most Courageous Child last week at the community awards organised by our sister paper the Cambridge Evening News, faces a hectic few days before that.

On Saturday, he will meet Princes William and Harry at a lunch in the Royal Suite at Wembley Stadium ahead of the Concert for Diana – Liam picked up a Diana Award for courage from Gordon Brown in February. Then, on Monday, he will be at the countywide SkillsTrain Young People of the Year awards in Huntingdon.

Liam will also be appearing on GMTV tomorrow morning ahead of his trip to Wembley.

End of an era as store closes for last time

AN era has ended with the closure of a long-established department store.

Palmer's, the only store of its kind in Newmarket, closes its doors this week, bringing an end to around 150 years of history.

Although the store has been part of the Great Yarmouth-based Palmer's group for about 15 years, the High Street department store has a history dating back to the mid-19th Century.

It is closing due to "difficult trading" in Newmarket, and Palmer's are developing their outlet in nearby Bury St Edmunds.

Nearly 30 staff, some with almost 30 years' service at the shop, are losing their jobs, but most have found other employment.

The building has been bought by Hughes Electrical, which is due to open in September after a refit.

Staff were carrying out the final clearance of sale items, including fixtures and fittings, this week.

Ingrid Stearne, manager for the past 10 years, said: "It's all very sad. We have been like a family here, and people were very upset when we had a final staff dinner last week.

"The closing down sale went very well. If we had seen half the people we saw in the sale as regular customers, we would not be closing down.

"It's a big piece of Newmarket's history."

Coun Bill Burch,

Newmarket's mayor, said: "It's very sad. Newmarket will be without a reasonable High Street store. The introduction of parking charges and the upheaval it caused obviously played a part."

Another long-established Newmarket-based business is also closing. Hobbs hardware store, based in St Mary's Square, is closing after more than 100 years.

More in debt seek CAB help

PEOPLE faced with soaring debts totalling more than £1.4 million have turned to Newmarket's Citizen Advice Bureau (CAB) for help in the past year.

The total is up by about £100,000 on last year and the town's CAB manager Mac McDougall warned the situation could only get worse with rising interest rates and other financial pressures.

People seeking help from the CAB have, on average, debts of between £12,000 and £15,000.

The bureau's full-time money adviser Jenny Barley is kept fully occupied negotiating with creditors such as banks and utility companies.

Last year, the bureau had 1,128 inquiries about debt issues – equivalent to 20 per cent of its work. There were

BY John Goode
Email: editorial@
newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

more than 300 extra issues dealt with in the category of debt compared with the previous year.

The only other issue which has taken up more time is benefits inquiries with a total of 1,517 – slightly fewer than the previous year, but making up 27.4 per cent of the bureau's work.

Overall, the bureau dealt with 5,542 inquiries in the past year including housing, employment and consumer problems.

In the employment category, the bureau helped clients to win more than £105,000 in pay and compensation at employment tribunals.

The bureau currently has 16 volunteers and is open for drop-in clients three days a week.

On the other two days, clients can be seen by appointment.

But the drop-in service could be extended to the remaining two days if the bureau manages to recruit eight more volunteers.

Mr McDougall said: "It is increasingly difficult to develop and move the bureau forward with our limited funding.

"This has only increased by 2 per cent for many years, but the expectations and requirements for the bureau can only be reflected in increasing costs.

"In order to get additional funding, we are competing with an ever-increasing number of applicants for an ever-decreasing allocation of grants, donations, match funding, etcetera."

The bureau has started a home visiting service for people with disabilities and is seeking funding to be able to continue the service.

Kind Catholics of Kirtling thanked

Sir, I would like to thank parishioners at Kirtling Roman Catholic Church who helped me after I had two bad falls. One even brought me in to Newmarket to the Catholic Church since it was no point taking me back to an empty house. Their help is appreciated.

Body building drug dealer sent to jail

A BODY builder who was caught with heroin, cocaine and steroids has been jailed.

Andrew Treby was arrested in a dawn raid by drugs officers at his home in Stanley Road, Newmarket.

He admitted possession of heroin, cocaine and anabolic steroids with intent to supply, and was jailed for three years and three months when he appeared at Cambridge Crown Court last week.

Sally Hickling, prosecuting, said Treby was asleep on a mattress in his lounge when police raided his rented home in February.

Drugs were found stashed in a sock close by, wrapped in cling film ready to be sold.

BY John Gill
Email: editorial@
newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

The most significant find was 27.7 grams of heroin, with a street value of £2,700, but smaller quantities of steroids and cocaine were also found, along with cash totalling around £1,500 and two sets of electric scales.

The court heard Treby used the steroids for bodybuilding and was dealing drugs and allowing his home to be used by other dealers to fund his own heroin habit.

The 29-year-old, who has previous convictions for possession of cannabis and violence, had also been caught with cocaine on a previous occasion, last August, and was waiting to be dealt with for that offence when his home was raided.

In mitigation, Treby's lawyer said he had developed a heroin addiction after breaking up with the mother of his youngest child, and had been "alarmed" by how fast his dependency on the drugs - and debts to his dealer - had grown.

Treby's girlfriend wept at the back of court as Judge Nicholas Coleman heard he was now in a stable relationship with a woman who was willing to help him leave drugs behind.

Judge Coleman said: "You started taking heroin, and it was a slippery slope.

"I have no doubt you were a user-dealer, supplying on a significant scale, but not as a commercial dealer."

Politics put aside as new councillors chosen

VACANT seats on Newmarket Town Council have been filled after new councillors were selected.

The council was left with vacancies following last month's elections when only 12 candidates were nominated for the 18 seats.

Now the six empty places have been filled after a co-option process by 10 of the existing councillors.

A special meeting of the town council was called to hear from the 10 people who had offered themselves as councillors. Each was allowed between five and 10 minutes to explain why they wanted to join the council before a secret ballot was conducted.

They were not asked about their political views or party affiliations.

Coun Bill Burch, the mayor who is an independent councillor, said: "We don't want a political council, so they weren't asked about their politics."

Three new councillors were chosen for the town's Severals ward. They are: Keith Bovill, of Drinkwater Close, Newmarket; Daniel Cross, of Sackville Street, Newmarket, and Peter Hulbert, of Noel Murless Drive, Newmarket.

Two councillors were chosen for Studlands Park ward. They are Gerald Cole, who lives on the Studlands Park estate, and Jonathan Richer, of Rous Road, Newmarket.

In the All Saints ward the single vacancy was filled by Cheryl Brighty, of Granby Street.

Woman in court over police kick

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

A WOMAN former jockey could face a jail sentence for kicking a policeman with her stiletto-heeled shoe as he tried to arrest her for being drunk and disorderly at Newmarket racecourse.

Donna Fogarty, 37, who previously rode horses at exercise for Newmarket trainers, admitted assaulting a police officer in the execution of his duty on May 5 – 2000 Guineas Day at the racecourse.

She also admitted breaching conditional discharges imposed for previous assaults on two officers while she was being held in a police cell a year earlier.

Further charges of being drunk and disorderly at the racecourse and resisting or obstructing a police officer were dismissed by magistrates at Mildenhall after she denied them.

The magistrates asked for pre-sentence reports covering "all options," including prison, and adjourned the case until July 12 at Bury St Edmunds court.

Colette Griffiths, prosecuting, said two police officers were alerted by racecourse staff at 5.10pm to a woman who appeared to be "very drunk".

The racecourse officials had tried to find out her name and where she lived to help her get home safely. But she was speaking incoherently and lunged at one of the policemen as he approached her.

She started shouting and swearing.

"There were hundreds of people in the area who were stopping to see what was going on," said Mrs Griffiths. "She was arrested and as she was being taken to the police transport, she kicked out at Pc John Frith causing a one and a half inch graze to his right shin."

Mrs Griffiths said Fogarty, of St George flats, Icewell Hill, Newmarket, had to be handcuffed and have her legs and ankles restrained as she was taken away by the police.

Mrs Griffiths said that Fogarty was the subject of 12-month conditional discharges imposed on June 27 last year for assaulting two police officers while being held in a cell. She punched one officer through the cell's viewing hatch and threw a urine-soaked pillow at the hatch as another officer looked through.

Fogarty's solicitor Claire Lockwood said she denied that she was drunk.

"She had only had two drinks and had become separated from a group of friends she had gone to the races with," said Miss Lockwood.

"She was unsteady on her feet because her shoes had caused blisters."

Miss Lockwood said Fogarty, who had previously ridden horses at exercise, had panicked during her arrest.

"She has a number of personal difficulties and had had mental health problems in the past," said Miss Lockwood.

Taxi fare rise above inflation

AN above-inflation rise in taxi fares is set to take effect in August.

Taxis operating in the Newmarket and Mildenhall areas are to be allowed to increase fares by 4.5 per cent on the "running mile".

The current mileage rate is £1.40. But it will go up to £1.50 if there are no objections to the increase.

The £3.20 charge for the first mile will remain unchanged.

Forest Heath District Council's licensing committee has agreed the increase after a request for higher fares from local taxi operators.

But the new fares have to be advertised to give the public a chance to comment.

If there are no objections the increased fares will take effect on August 20. The last fare increase was exactly a year ago.

The committee also agreed to increase the "soiling charge" which taxi firms can make for cleaning their cabs – mainly imposed if late-night revellers are sick in their vehicles.

The current charge is £50, but councillors have agreed it can go up to £60.

The taxi operators had asked for the charge to be £70 based on current costs of valeting.

Andrew Moules, of the Mildenhall and District Cab Association, said the charge did not take account of drivers' loss of earnings while a vehicle was out of service for cleaning.

Death crash driver jailed

BY John Gill

Email: editorial@
newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

A SPEEDWAY star has been jailed for three years for killing a man as he drove home from a race meeting.

James Purchase, formerly a rider with Mildenhall Fen Tigers speedway team, was convicted of causing the death of Stephen Gill by dangerous driving following a trial at Cambridge Crown Court.

He wept as Judge Nicholas Coleman told him: "You will have to live with the consequences of what could be described as your moment of madness for the rest of your life."

The 19-year-old, of Nightingale Close, Mildenhall, was driving a Peugeot 206. It hit Mr Gill's car head-on near Littleport last August.

Purchase was driving his friend Kevin Bradfield's car home from a race meeting in King's Lynn, and the court heard he accelerated to speeds of up to 80mph as he overtook traffic.

Moments before the crash he pulled out to pass another vehicle, crossing the wrong side of the road as he approached a bend, as Mr Gill came around the corner in the opposite direction.

The impact left the 43-year-old father-of-three with multiple injuries and he died in hospital.

Mr Bradfield, who was in the passenger seat, broke his legs.

Purchase, who was not injured in the collision, wept in the dock as his lawyer William Carter spoke in mitigation.

Mr Carter said: "Everyone in this court recognises that the effect of that piece of driving has been an utter tragedy for the family of Mr Gill. I include Mr Purchase and his family and friends in that."

"Not a day goes by without him recalling that night and regretting that he drove as he did in the course of that overtaking, and the consequences of his actions."

Judge Coleman, who also disqualified Purchase from driving for two years, told him: "It is self-evident you did not set out that night to kill anybody, but you did."

"People have been severely affected, even traumatised, and the victim impact statements from Mr Gill's family make harrowing reading."

"They have lost someone in an inexplicable way."

INXS set pace for summer race concerts

AUSTRALIAN rockers INXS kicked off the summer series of pop concerts after evening race meetings at Newmarket's July racecourse.

The band, now fronted by Canadian JD Fortune following the death of lead singer Michael Hutchence 10 years ago, were the first act to perform at the racecourse since it has undergone a £10 million revamp.

Although the crowd of around 10,000 was less than half the capacity of the racecourse, officials said they were happy with the turn-out for the start of the seven Newmarket Nights Friday evening racing and pop concerts.

The racecourse revamp has provided more bars, restaurants and toilets and has increased the total capacity to 21,500 from 19,000.

The series of shows continues next Friday with the Sugababes.

The only sell-out night so far is for Madness on Friday, July 20. Other acts in the line-up for the seven nights are the Pet Shop Boys, Jools Holland and his Rhythm and Blues Orchestra, Ronan Keating and Wet Wet Wet.

Lester is back on course after scare

RACING legend Lester Piggott will be joining actress Claire King as guest of honour at a charity race day at Newmarket on Saturday.

Piggott, 71, will be back at the scene of some of his major race wins just five weeks after a heart scare led to the cancellation of a special race day to honour him. He made his first public appearance since he was taken into intensive care while on a visit to Switzerland at last week's Royal Ascot race meeting. He was one of flat racing's champion jockeys to be photographed at Ascot in support of former commentator Peter O'Sullivan's charity. Now he will be appearing at the Ormiston Racing Welfare Race day at Newmarket's July course on Saturday.

Claudia Fisher, head of fundraising and communications for Racing Welfare said: "I was delighted when Lester's good friend Christine St George rang to tell me Lester was able to join us on Saturday. We are so pleased he is feeling well, and honoured that he is able to support this charity race day." The Swiss heart scare was the second that Piggott, who lives in Newmarket, has suffered. The 11-times champion spent part of Christmas in hospital after being taken ill.

Newmarket racecourse chiefs had planned a special race day in May to mark 50 years since his first Guineas race win. The tribute was dropped after his latest heart scare, despite Piggott's disappointment at not being able to be there with family and friends.

The racecourse hopes to be able to reschedule the tribute race day later in the season.

His appearance at this weekend's charity race, alongside Bad Girls and Emmerdale actress Claire King, could help boost the amount raised for the two charities - Newmarket-based Racing Welfare and the Ormiston Children's Trust which has a centre in Newmarket.

Organisers are hoping to top £50,000 to be shared by the two organisations.

■ BOOST FOR CHARITY . . . Claire King and Lester Piggott.

Channel 4 Television commentator Mike Cattermole will be master of ceremonies for 350 guests of the two charities and various fundraising activities.

A silent auction and other fundraising activities will be carried out at the race meeting. An exclusive dinner with some of Newmarket's top racehorse trainers is among the items in the auction.

Clinic offers ace treatments

DERBY Cottage Clinic provides a comprehensive therapeutic and rehabilitation service to Newmarket and the surrounding district.

The eight qualified practitioners diagnose a huge range of muscular-skeletal, neural, respiratory and digestive dysfunctions. A combined and detailed knowledge of human anatomy, physiology and pathological processes gives the patient an accurate diagnosis and treatment.

Patients are also offered management advice which empowers them to make simple lifestyle changes and therefore avoid repeat injury and pain. This rounded approach leads the patient to a greater understanding of the cause of painful dysfunction patterns.

One Derby Cottage Clinic osteopath was once told by a famous local horse trainer: "There is no point in getting old without becoming wiser." This sentiment is reflected in the clinic's principles, as the staff would rather a patient adopt a regular Pilates class and revel in the physical rewards of enhanced core stability and improved back and pelvic floor muscles instead of become a weekly visitor to the clinic.

The clinic boasts its own in house Pilates and yoga studio. The classes are small and personal and with attention to detail, the class leader can tone the muscles which form a natural corset around the abdomen by making changes to posture and movement.

Along with the well-established reputation for treatments and referrals where necessary, the clinic now offers podiatry and chiropody. The clinic specialises in corrective insoles (orthotics) which improve overall biomechanical misalignments and prevent wear on the knees, hips and back.

Moving on from the more external problems to those of the mind and internal chemistry, the clinic offers cognitive hypnotherapy. The therapy uses the principle that everyone has the tonic they need to solve their own problems – they just need help to find it.

Acupuncture and Chinese herbalism is also used to cure illness and maintain health. This is often used in combination with other more mechanical treatments to find a rapid solution to your problem.

Derby Cottage Clinic practitioners are all local people registered with professional bodies. The friendly staff are always on hand to answer your queries in a confidential and professional manner.

The clinic is open Monday to Friday 9am-6pm. A Saturday clinic and before and after work appointments are also available.

Osteopathic & Sports Injury Treatments

Osteopathy

The practice of Osteopathy involves the careful and specific application of a highly developed sense of touch in both diagnosis and treatment of mechanical problems affecting any part of the body.

This, combined with a detailed understanding of human anatomy, physiology and pathological processes and thorough working knowledge of classical clinical examination methods, allows the osteopath to treat patients by releasing and promoting the body's self healing mechanisms.

Pilates

The Pilates method is a complete approach to developing body awareness, improving posture, providing a stable power base and allows us to age with a graceful posture

The exercise programmes concentrate on the core stability muscles which consist of the deepest layers of back, pelvic floor and abdominal muscle groups. During pain these muscles will become weak, but with the correct exercise programme these muscles will be restored, therefore reducing the chance of further injury.

A fine place to dine

IF you want to receive first class service, superb food and an extensive choice of wine in a venue fit for a king look no further than the Restaurant at King's in Newmarket.

The large public lounge bar often features live music and during the summer months King's holds public barbecues and beer festivals.

Volunteers needed to help in two community havens

In this month's column, Jacquie Schaerer, from The Voluntary Network, looks at two places which specialise in helping the community.

When the term "community" is used, the first notion that typically comes to mind is a place in which people know and care for one another.

Among many such places in Newmarket, I would like to name just two – The Stable and Newmarket Day Centre. Both of them are caring for the community and have some characteristics in common.

The day centre has been operational since 1981 and is a fully-equipped resource centre. Primarily, the centre's aim is to work with retired people, boasting a "drop-in" cafeteria service, comprehensive day care provision, meal delivery service, hairdressing, chiropody and even a bath and shower room. Other facilities on offer are a training and conference room, day trips, day centre parties, senior citizens and over 60s clubs. Able, retired people can use the "drop-in" facilities and all service provision as often or as little as they wish. Retired, frailer people, will receive help from qualified care staff.

In 1994, The Stable started offering its facilities, primarily as a meeting place for organisations, businesses and above all the people of Newmarket and surrounding areas. It provides a continuity of support to those in need. The Stable is a place where everyone in the community can feel included and is a resource to respond to the needs of people, by sometimes referring them to appropriate organisations. They even have a voucher scheme offering homeless people food. It is a meeting place where people can relax, enjoy refreshments, make friends, feel welcomed and receive help and support.

Both organisations need volunteers to help them to continue with their aims.

The Stable is looking for people with a wide variety of skills to help with catering, serving customers, public relations, general help and administration.

Newmarket Day Centre is looking for drivers for their mini bus, and escorts to help the driver and clients, joining or leading social activities, help in the hairdressing salon, kitchen and restaurant (cashier). At present there is a vacancy for a volunteer in their charity shop, Prospects, in Wellington Street.

Should one of the above interest you, please contact Jacquie on (01638) 608048 for further information. Looking forward to hearing from you.

New housing plan for historic site

NEW PLANS for housing on the site of historic maltings have been put forward.

Last year a planning inspector turned down plans for 72 new homes on The Old Maltings site at Fordham Road, Newmarket.

The scheme was opposed by local residents and the town council.

The planning inspector who rejected an appeal against the refusal of planning permission said that not enough had been done to try to preserve some of the old buildings on the site – last used by a photo processing company which closed two years ago.

Now new plans have been submitted to Forest Heath District Council on behalf of Build Force Developments which propose converting three of the old buildings, including the 19th century kiln and maltings, into houses.

A total of 56 new homes are planned in the scheme which includes houses, flats and apartments. A "semi-basement" car park is also proposed.

The scheme includes buildings used by a paint company which is due to move to new premises.

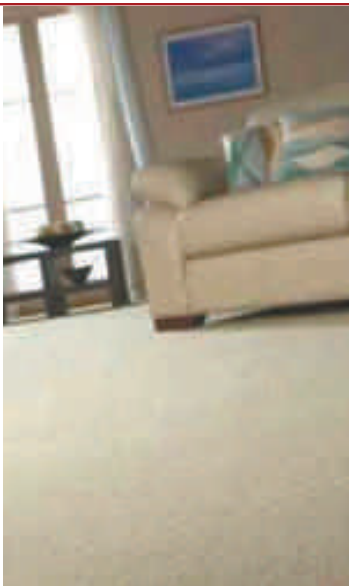

The town council is due to comment on the scheme in July. But a ruling on whether to grant planning permission will be made by the district council.

Thieves abandon stolen moped

A SILVER moped stolen from a front garden in Granby Street, Newmarket, was later found abandoned in Cricketfield Road nearby.

The moped was stolen between 9.30pm on Sunday, June 17, and 4.30am on Monday, June 18.

Anyone with information should contact Pc Melissa Pettitt at Newmarket police station on (01284) or Crimestoppers on 0800 555111.

New uni status for kids project

A CHILDREN'S university has been given official status.

Suffolk Children's University has been operating as a pilot scheme since September, but has now been officially launched.

Activities such as breakfast clubs, lunchtime and after-school activities, plus weekend and holiday clubs, come under the "university's" wing.

Matt Try, project manager, said: "By pulling these activities together and accrediting them to the Suffolk Children's University, parents can be assured that their children are taking part in activities which are safe and delivered by qualified personnel with appropriate equipment."

Newmarket's Scaltback Middle School was one of the schools involved in launch activities.

Concern over stunt 'craze'

BY John Goode

Email: editorial@newmarketweeklynews.co.uk

YOUNG "free-running" participants from Cambridge have been called in to help tackle problems caused in Newmarket by the new stunt craze.

Police and council officials are worried that youngsters could be hurt in the craze which involves running across rooftops and jumping between buildings.

It originated in France where it is known as Parkour and has been featured in a film. A Cambridge artist has also made her own film of youngsters participating in stunts in the city.

Now police and other members of the Newmarket South Safer Neighbourhood Team have called in Cambridge participants to help develop a project in Newmarket where youngsters can take part in relative safety.

Police and town centre security officers have dealt with several reports of youngsters climbing on roofs and jumping to other buildings – mainly in the area of the town's Guineas shopping centre and its multi-storey car park.

Sergeant Jo Garrard said: We have concerns for the safety of young people who are, on occasion, using dangerous locations to engage in this activity and there have been some associated reports of antisocial behaviour at these same locations.

"Forest Heath District Council, Newmarket's Safer Neighbourhood Teams and youth workers in the area are keen to embrace the energy and enthusiasm of these young people – we are putting funding into setting up a project to allow them to enjoy a similar activity in a safe environment."

The Cambridge Parkour participants already work with recognised bodies so that the activity is carried out safely.

Sgt Garrard, who heads Newmarket's Safer Neighbourhood teams, said there had already been interest from schools willing to host the activity.

She said: "We will be meeting with our partners and the Parkour experts in a fortnight's time to develop the project, and we would also like to get input and ideas from the young people themselves."

Anyone interested in getting involved with the project should contact Sgt Garrard on (01284) 774100 or senior youth worker Jo Bradshaw on (01638) 663740.

Further information about the Safer Neighbourhood Teams can be found at www.safersuffolk.org.uk

Songs for the summer

AN EVENING concert will be staged at St Peter's Church, Fordham, on Saturday.

Wingbeats, Singing in the Summer, organised by the church Friends' organisation, will feature Saffron Walden Choral Society and pupils from the village school.

The concert highlights the plight of the albatross, with works composed by Janet Wheeler, the choral society's conductor and a solo performance by Kate Woolf.

Indie boys back in town

INDIE rockers The Dykenies will be back in Cambridge next week to promote their new single, Clean Up Your Eyes.

The Scottish group joined the NME Rock 'n' Roll Riot Tour with The Horrors, The Maccabees and The Fratellis last year and have also supported Maximo Park and Get Cape Wear Cape Fly this year.

They will be at The Loft on Mitcham's Corner next Wednesday on their own headline tour.

Scribbled thoughts offer message of hope

AN EVENING setting for the writings of former Beirut hostage John McCarthy at King's College takes on special relevance as the world awaits news of kidnapped BBC journalist Alan Johnston. McCarthy, also a journalist, wrote at length about his time in captivity and his words have been crafted into libretto set to music Adam Gorb. Thoughts Scribbled on a Blank Wall also features work by Dorset poet Ben Kaye, dealing with incarceration. Edward Armitage, chair of the John Armitage Memorial, which has organised the concert, said: "If Alan Johnston has been released by July, we shall have something to celebrate, if not we can draw more renewed attention to his plight, along with all other political hostages." The work is split into three main sections – a bass soloist representing an incarcerated person and the quartet, along with choir and soprano soloist both representing the world's reaction to the incarceration. The concert takes place next Wednesday at King's College from 7.30pm. Tickets are £5-£20. Call (01223) 357851 to book.

Sensual Lady's dance tells the story of salsa

By Nik Shelton

THERE'S a salsa class taking place around almost every corner nowadays.

In recent years, the craze has swept the country with clubs and competitions springing up everywhere. So it's about time the heady, sensual Cuban dance phenomenon got its own hit show. Lady Salsa, which comes to the Arts Theatre in Cambridge this week, is just that. The stage show features some of Cuba's top musicians and dancers and tells the tale of salsa's origins on the island. It is also the story of one of its greatest artists, Trinidad Ronaldo, who leads the cast and has been performing on stage for more than 50 years.

"Everyone's 100 per cent Cuban," said co-producer Jon Lee.

"Everywhere in Cuba, music and dance is an integral part of the culture. All these guys here rehearse with me for five hours and then in the evening they go and dance for another five hours – for me it's a little bit strange.

"They genuinely love what they do so every performance has a very special energy to it because dancing is a part of their lives. It's different to those people who are to end – well that's my opinion anyway."

■ HOT, HOT, HOT . . . Lady Salsa delivers a high energy history of salsa at the Arts Theatre.

The show has appeared on the West End and recently completed a world tour – but being officially sanctioned by the Cuban government, the US is the only country that is off limits for the production team.

The show counts Kylie Minogue and Richard Branson among its fans and features a cast of 25, including a band made up of top young performers in Cuba and dancers from the Ballet de la Television Cubana – the island's top dance company.

The success of the 1999 film, Buena Vista Social Club, had a huge impact on the popularity of salsa.

"Buena Vista Social Club did relaunch Cuban music on the scene again," Jon said. "It was very popular in the 50s and 60s but after that film there was a renaissance internationally. "We did this in London on the West End in 2001 and it was becoming very popular then, but now it's incredibly popular there."

Lady Salsa is at the Cambridge Arts Theatre from Wednesday, July 4, to Saturday, July 7. Tickets are £10-£30. To book, call (01223) 503333.

Porsche's ultimate challenge

HOW about something of a motoring challenge?

You are going to do between ten and 20 fast laps of the Brands Hatch circuit, a number of very fast and largely sideways miles of a rally circuit, compete on a wet tarmac surface in a handling competition and finally slog through mud and rivers up to half a metre deep.

So wheel on the latest version of the Porsche Cayenne, which believe it or not is able to give a very good account of itself in all these roles. A new dynamic chassis control system, which is only available as an extra on what is already a rather expensive car, is the secret behind the Cayenne's outstanding performance on the track.

No matter how hard you push the car into a corner is there is not the slightest hint of body roll. Two anti-roll bars with built in swivel motors replace traditional anti-roll bars.

Head for the rally course and the intelligent traction management system divides the available power between all four wheels whilst a flick of a switch between the front seats can raise and lower the air suspension for either track work or river crossing.

Of course you need some power, so the V6 of the standard car has gone up from 3.2 to 3.6-litres providing an additional 40bhp while the 4.8-litre V8 unit of the Cayenne S has 45bhp more than before.

Finally the V8 of the Cayenne Turbo now has exactly 50bhp more raising its output to exactly 500bhp – a lot of power by any standards!

If you are one of those fortunate people who can afford anything between £37,100 and £74, 650 for their Cayenne, then you might worry about someone trying to make off with it. Porsche has introduced its own satellite tracking system available in 27 different countries. The car constantly lets the system know where it is and the system is approved to Thatcham grade 5 standard, the highest in the UK.

■ THE NEW PORSCHE CAYENNE... outstanding performance and surprisingly versatile.

Of course you get the full works when it comes to comfort and pleasure. Fourteen speakers operate with the BOSE sound system and there is a rear seat entertainment system which uses infra-red headsets to avoid problems with trailing wires.

Even the windows have glass treated to bounce raindrops off the surface almost before they land.

The air suspension system comes as an extra and it will be interesting to see how many buyers take it up. I would guess many customers will go for it simply because it is there.

BASICALLY...

There can be few cars as totally versatile as the new Cayenne. It can offer outstanding performance in a range of roles providing you are prepared to pay the price. High levels of luxury and comfort are combined with practical carrying ability.

Sprayless repair – a smooth operator to tackle scratches

EVERY car gets scratches here and there over time, and at some point they'll drive any owner crazy. But now there could be the perfect solution with the launch of Sprayless Scratch Repair (SSR).

Used by more than 500 vehicle dealerships, leasing companies, de-fleet companies and valeters worldwide, SSR has been developed to perform cosmetic repairs of minor chips and scratches in vehicle bodywork to an excellent standard without any spraying.

This means it is environmentally friendly, as it does not use volatile organic compounds (VOCs) – a source of air pollution which was regulated from bodywork paint when the European Paint Directive came into force at the start of 2007.

Bumpers, skirts and other body kits are often damaged by minor knocks and scrapes. SSR has been introduced to repair individual scratches in less than 10 minutes, a totally peppered bonnet in around 30 minutes and a car with scratches on every panel in just over an hour. It will take care of more than 80 per cent of paint damage that plagues every vehicle owner and is considerably cheaper than traditional bodyshop techniques.

Damage repaired using SSR is guaranteed not to wash off, even with a power washer, and come with a five-year guarantee.

However, SSR is so confident about the product that it is offering UK customers who use the system a guarantee for the time they own the repaired car.

MOTORING

Region gears up for premier motor show

THIS year the Two Counties Motor Show, which takes place on Sunday, has undergone a quantum leap and now deservedly takes its place as the most successful car show the region has ever seen.

The event is all the more remarkable because it is hosted for charitable reasons, with the funds raised steered towards Magpas, the East Anglian Air Ambulance, the Milton Children's Hospice and the St Nicholas Hospice in Bury St Edmunds.

Now in its eighth year, the event has traditionally taken place at the Rowley Mile Racecourse in Newmarket – a venue which has been well chosen since it can accommodate the expanded showcase of all that's good about motoring in the region. More than 200 new cars will be on show on the day – Marshall's alone is taking 100 vehicles – along with at least 100 classic and vintage sets of wheels.

In addition to the cars there will be events and experiences for everyone to enjoy, including fairground rides, driver and motorcycle training, radio-controlled car racing, rally cars (and rally champ James Wozencroft on the Browning Suzuki stand) and – a first – an auction run by Antique Finds (see panel).

The event is a tribute to the good, and largely unsung, work of Cambridge, Ely and Newmarket Lions Clubs. The Lions Club network is "the biggest service organisation in the world", according to Ely Lions Club's Ian Newstead, who works on the committee which brings together the organisation for the entire show.

On the day Ian is the show organiser, a role he clearly enjoys despite the fact that he has to fit in the demands of putting the event together while maintaining a full-time job as a mechanical contracts engineer.

"Every town in the country has got a Lions Club," he told me over coffee earlier this week.

"It's the biggest service organisation in the world with more than 1.5 million members, but we don't necessarily go for the big global corporate charity organisations. We have a community services team in every Lions Club which reads letters and appeals and we try to help any way we can, at the individual level as well as families going through a difficult time."

The growing appeal of the event has required increasing amounts of space at Rowley Mile. Last year the News agreed to help promote the show and this year that assistance has extended with the paper producing the programme, which will appear in next week's Drive. Other publicity for the event is being provided by Star Radio and BBC Radio Cambridgeshire, who will both be broadcasting from the site.

It's all a far cry from the fortnightly meetings at the Lamb Hotel in Ely, when the committee gets together to discuss the fundraising and services they are involved in. (A Lions Club for younger members, Ely Leos, also provides valued assistance.)

This year The Davis Group has agreed to contribute £1 for every person coming through the gate, which is sure to provide a huge boost to local charities. But above all, Mr Newstead wants the event to be both fun and useful to those who have any kind of interest in cars.

"The Motor Show is the biggest event we do, and the response has been phenomenal," he says.

"It takes a year to plan. I've started planning next year's show before this one's even started."

And with a cheery wave he's off to ensure that the whole merry-go-round stays on the road – until Sunday week at least.

■ BRAVO! ... Giulio Salomone, managing director of Fiat UK, with the new Italian supermini.

THE new Fiat Bravo was launched on Wednesday evening when Giulio Salomone, managing director of Fiat Auto UK, hosted a London event at the Roundhouse in Camden.

In the presence of the Italian Ambassador, Giancarlo Aragona, the evening attracted celebrities including Jade Jagger, Meg Matthews, Reena & Ruby Hammer, Tamara Beckwith, Giorgio Locatelli, Allegra Hicks and Gianluca Vialli.

Entertainment included a live performance from Mafafix (Big City Life), The Loose Cannons, and music by Poppy Lloyd, Jasmine Guinness and Jaguar Skills from Jezebel.

The undisputed star of the show, however, was the new Fiat Bravo. Developed by the Fiat Style Centre in Turin, the exterior is unmistakably Italian, all of which is part of the development of the brand's visual identity.

New Bravo, which was created in a record-breaking development time using state-of-the-art Computer Aided Design (CAD) and Computer Aided Engineering (CAE) systems of unprecedented power and complexity, combines a compact five-door body with a remarkable amount of interior space.

Very competitively priced, the New Bravo contains a wealth of technological features, and quality standards worthy of a higher class where safety, comfort and driving enjoyment are concerned. New Bravo has already been awarded a maximum 5-star rating for adult occupant protection in the gruelling Euro NCAP crash test programme.

New Bravo is an agile car that is entertaining to drive, thanks in part to a wide choice of petrol or diesel engines up to 150bhp, which combine low fuel consumption and low emissions with outstanding performance. New Bravo goes on sale in the UK on Saturday, June 30.

While introducing the New Bravo, Giulio Salomone also emphasised Fiat's intention to become world number one in terms of offering the best automotive digital experience available to would-be customers. The results of this quest will be revealed when the new Fiat site is launched next Thursday.

Fiat Auto UK's business under Giulio Salomone has been transformed. Market share has more than doubled in two years, and a new central London showroom is expected to open by the end of 2007 – just in time for the arrival here of the iconic new Fiat 500.

■ LOOKING GOOD ... the Bravo is launched in London's Roundhouse.

Parents ‘ignorant of booster seat laws’

AS MANY as 76 per cent of drivers who have children as passengers still do not know the new legal requirement for restraining youngsters in vehicles in full, a recent poll has discovered. Although 93 per cent of drivers knew about the new law introduced last September, only 24 per cent could say what the requirement was, the survey from satellite vehicle tracking company Masternaut found. Children over three but under

Poll says one in seven are at fault

13, who are less than 135cm tall (4ft 5in) must use the correct seat restraint, either booster seats or booster cushions. But the survey of 2,413 adults found that almost one in seven parents were not providing booster seats or cushions. In Wales, 25 per cent of drivers are not using the correct seating for children, while West Midlands drivers appear to have the least knowledge of the new law, with 83 per cent not aware of it. Drivers in South-West England were most likely to know the seating law, while women drivers were more knowledgeable than male drivers on the subject. Masternaut managing director Martin Port said: “Parents think they know the law, but actually they don’t. The majority of people would never intentionally put their children at risk but these results highlight the importance of knowing the correct legislation, or you could be jeopardising your child’s safety without even realising. “Our advice is for parents to make sure that all their children are safe before setting off in the car.” A Department for Transport spokesman said that the Government was working hard to make the public aware of the new rules. “Last year the Department ran a £0.5 million publicity campaign aimed at making the public aware of these new rules. This campaign involved both broadcast and print advertising as well as PR work and promotional partnerships with car seat manufacturers and retailers,” he said. “Our research shows that awareness of the new rules had risen to 92 per cent after the campaign, as opposed to only 37 per cent awareness before the campaign began.”

ATHLETICS

Super Sayers topples great rival yet again

GREAT Britain women's new team captain Goldie Sayers was cock-a-hoop as she led her side back into Europe's Super League on Saturday.

Britain's women were relegated in Malaga last year, but Sayers, proudly leading from the front, saw her side promoted in their European Cup First League 'A' match in Vaasa, Finland.

The British javelin record holder led by example on Saturday when she produced another world-class display.

Burwell-based Sayers, who spent her early years living in Newmarket, dominated her competition, despite being troubled by an adductor problem.

She insisted: "It will be okay," after again beating last summer's European silver medallist Barbora Spotakova for the second time in three weeks.

"It was a good win to have. I think she is carrying an injury – but so am I," said the former European junior silver medallist.

Sayers has enjoyed a blistering start to the season, including setting the new British mark of 65.05m.

However, she will take enormous satisfaction from her win over Spotakova, of the Czech Republic, who threw only 58.45.

Sayers threw 60.41 in a solid series which also included throws of 58.84 and 59.55, both better than Spotakova's best.

CAPTAIN FANTASTIC:

FOOTBALL

Taylor to bolster Jockeys

JOHN Taylor is rebuilding his Newmarket squad for the upcoming Ridgeons League, Premier Division campaign.

The Jockeys' boss, who replaced Dave Abbs as manager in February, has lost the services of Dave Werthmann and Andy Pettit to neighbours Mildenhall.

But the former Cambridge United manager has landed keeper Arron Benstead, from Haverhill Rovers, and has targeted Ely City pair Nick Impey and Jamie Thurlbourne. The duo are set to start pre-season training. Taylor said: "I am happy with the way things are progressing and we are looking at a few other players from further afield, who will be relocating to the area soon."

Ely assistant boss Alan Alsopp said: "Nick and Jamie are going to have a look at Newmarket. They've not signed anything yet, but I think it's likely."

IN BRIEF

Dann shines in the pool

LEWIS Dann led an impressive showing from the Newmarket and District Swim Club with six medals at the Suffolk development championships.

Dann scooped two gold, two silver and two bronze medals in his club's overall 35-medal haul. Max White, Rebecca Fay, and Zak Ollington also clinched individual golds as many of their club-mates also lowered personal best times.

The younger and less experienced members of the club had their chance to star in the water at the Bussens and Parkin Novice Gala at Mildenhall.

Cameron Brown, Sam Minns, Ashley Trent, Alex Fussey and Grace Evans won gold medals for Newmarket as again swimmers beat previous best marks.

Smart gears up for 100-miler with win

CYCLING

ON A tough, challenging 11-mile Ashley A circuit, just the two riders contesting the Newmarket Cycling and Triathlon Club's time-trial managed to duck under the 30-minute mark.

Despite the three hills, Duchess Drive, Upend and Ashley, Bruce Smart set the fastest time of the evening, 27min 53sec, with plenty to spare as he prepared himself for the upcoming EDCA 100-mile time trial, to be held in Norfolk this coming weekend.

In second place, with heavy legs from his 11th-place finish at the European duathlon championships in Edinburgh, was Smart's Newmarket club-mate Steve Peck with 29:45.

The quickest female rider was Cambridge Triathlon Club rider Juliet Vickery, who finished in fourth overall, with a time of 30:52. In another encouraging ride, Natasha George, making her time-trial debut, made light work of the hilly course, smiling from the start line to finish line, to stop the clock in a respectable 34:20.

George's time was good enough to clinch ninth overall.

The next time-trial is Wednesday July 4, on the Ashley B circuit, starting at 7.30pm.

Results (Newmarket Cycling Club unless stated) – 1 Bruce Smart 27:53, 2 Steve Peck 29:45, 3 Craig Pack 30:06, 4 Juliet Vickery (Cambridge Triathlon Club) 30:52, 5 Martin Graves 31:02, 6 Dariusz Szermach 31:28, 7 Richard Winrow 32:13, 8 Gage Lloyd 33:07, 9 Natasha George 34:20, 10 Richard Newell 34:43, 11 Lucy Waller (Mildenhall Cycling Club) 35:18, 12 Julia Yelloly 35:52, 13 Ray Jolly (EDCC) 37:03.

SPEEDWAY

Sharman keen to improve Tigers

CAMBRIDGE-BASED entrepreneur Roger Sharman has revealed for the first time his reasons for purchasing a major stake in Mildenhall Speedway. The retired 67-year-old, from Chesterton, last week bought out co-promoter Mick Horton's 36 per cent share in the Fen Tigers, with his 26-year-old daughter Loretta, and the pair have already expressed their ideas on how to take the club on to the next level. Mr Sharman said: "I have followed speedway since 1948 and was a keen supporter of Michael Lee and the Wembley Lions at a young age before I moved to the Cambridgeshire area where I started to follow King's Lynn.

"I got to know Mick from going to Peterborough and he hinted he was looking at selling his stake at the start of the season, so we began negotiations. The club has a great atmosphere, everyone is friendly and works tirelessly to make things happen.

"We have spoken with Simon Barton (co-promoter) about our thoughts on moving the club forwards and we feel that improving on the advertising is a crucial factor. We have only been coming to Mildenhall for four seasons. We are keen supporters and sponsors of Shaun Tacey, he is Mr Mildenhall as far as we are concerned."

■ Fen Tigers' Canadian star Kyle Legault finished above some top names in a Grand Prix qualifier in Italy with 11 points, and progresses on to the semi-finals.

'I'm proud as punch'

Soldier's Tale brings a tear to Nosedá's eye

SOLDIER'S Tale foiled an antipodean sprint whitewash and provided trainer Jeremy Nosedá with the proudest moment in his training career when producing a power-packed display in the Golden Jubilee Stakes at Royal Ascot.

The injury-plagued six-year-old nailed Australia's Takeover Target by a head in the Group One sprint to deny the raiders from Down Under a double following Miss Andretti's success in the King's Stand Stakes last Tuesday.

Johnny Murtagh's mount responded well to a first-time visor and raced up from mid-division to grab glory at the highest level on just his eighth career start.

For Nosedá the win was a very personal moment in his career with the horse he calls "spam" – due to his out-hanging tongue – having come within minutes of death on two occasions.

The Newmarket-based trainer said: "I think it might be my best day. It is a very special day in my life and I see this horse as a special friend; I just adore him.

"He's been a horse with countless problems and we've got him back for this. He's such a tough horse and a brave horse. He deserves it.

"His owner Sid Belzberg lives in Canada and he deserves this for his patience and I should give a huge 'thank you' to the whole team at home for getting him back to win this. It's a fabulous, fabulous day.

"He's had countless fractures, colic surgery and pieces of his stomach removed. He has to have a special diet as he finds it hard to digest.

"He's a fighter as he's been at the point of having to be put down twice.

"He's my favourite horse in the yard and I love him to bits.

"For this horse six furlongs is his bare minimum, but the more rain we had the bigger a stamina test it was and the more it suited him.

"We have beaten the best Australian sprinters with a horse who isn't really a sprinter, and we can put the talk of the Australian horses to bed now."

Nosedá, who has now sent out seven winners at the Royal meeting, pointed to the Haydock Sprint Cup and Prix Maurice de Gheest as likely targets.

Murtagh added: "I got a lovely run through the race but when Takeover Target started to quicken up around two-out I thought he'd go and win the race. But my fellow put his head down and responded really well and just in the last 50 yards we were getting there with every stride."

CRICKET

Teams set for play-off

MARAUDERS and Dragons will meet in a play-off to decide who will win the Arab Junior Cricket League title.

In the final round-robin clashes, Marauders disposed of Wizards and the Dragons proved far too strong for the Raiders, leaving the winners level on points at the top of the league.

Wizards started well against the Marauders and restricted them to 278. The Wizards reply was forceful with 25 on the board in the first four overs but spinners Mark Diver and Tom Jordan pegged the scoring back and although Martin Coverdale added 22 the Wizards faded to a 25 run defeat.

Raiders were never in contention as wickets tumbled early. A robust 30 from Toby Adams pushed the final total to 259. Angus Douglas, Cameron Ramsay and Rhys Desborough sparked the Dragons reply as they overhauled the target with ease.

■ Mildenhall's under 15 and under 13 sides had convincing victories in their latest Suffolk league matches. They beat Exning and Haverhill respectively.
